Research and Practice Centers

- Epidemiology Data Center
- Aging and Population Health
- LGBT Health Research
- Health Equity
- Health Policy Institute
- Environmental Public Health
- Public Health Practice
- Public Health Dynamics Laboratory
Opportunities for Involvement

Student Organizations

• Student Government Association
• Association of Women in Public Health
• Doctoral Student Organization
• Global Health Student Association
• Health Policy and Management Association
• Minority Student Organization
• Student Public Health Epidemic Response Effort
Opportunities for Involvement
And Pitt Public Health students do get involved...

- International dinner (Pittsburgh Community Food Bank)
- Food drives (Pittsburgh Community Food Bank)
- Blood drives (Central Blood Bank)
- First aid kits for Haiti (Team Tassy)
- Fair trade coffee sales (Kiva)
- Penny Wars (UNICEF)
What makes Pitt Public Health special?

- Plunge into Public Health
- Pitt’s Day of Caring
- Dean’s Day Student Research Competition
- Certified in Public Health (CPH) Exam
- One Book, One Community

This year: Betsy Myers’ Take the Lead
Living in Pittsburgh

- Vital cultural district – symphony, opera, ballet, concerts, theatre, museums
- “Destination city for cultural arts” – ranked third among midsized cities (American Style)
- Welcoming community; family-friendly neighborhoods
- Affordable cost of living (six percent below the national average)
- Fanatical sports town – football, hockey, college basketball
- ...and yes, even baseball (GO BUCS!!)
- Year-round outdoor activities: hiking, cycling, kayaking, rowing, skiing...
Perks of Pitt

- Discounted tickets for cultural events with your Pitt ID
- Cross-registration at nearby universities
- Opportunities to collaborate with other Schools of the Health Sciences
- State-of-the-art fitness facilities
- Free public transportation with your Pitt ID